Panda Camera fonds

Panda Camera fonds. -- 1964-2002. -- 108 cm of textual records. -- 32,996 photographs.

Agency History

Panda Camera, a camera store and commercial studio specializing in portraits and public relations photography, was originally established in June 1964 by Orm Schultz. The first location was in the 99 block on Richmond Avenue in Grande Prairie, but it drew customers from across the south Peace River country. As a combination Photo Studio and Store, Panda Camera sold everything from photography books and magazines to movie cameras and slide projectors, as well as cameras, accessories, film, darkroom equipment and supplies, and display materials. It also carried related equipment such as surveying instruments, mobile telephones, binoculars and calculators, and over the years became the authorized dealer for Hasselblad, Besseler, Tamron, Polaroid, Nikon, Minolta, Yashica, Kodak, Pentax, Canon, Vivitar and Durst.

In December 1966 Paul Pivert joined the Panda Camera team. Paul inherited his love of photography from his father and uncle, both of whom were excellent amateur photographers who had documented their own activities and community events since arriving in the south Peace in 1929. Paul went on to train as a professional photographer, and in 1973 he became the sole owner of a new company, Panda Camera (1973) Ltd.

In 1976, Mr. Pivert split the business into two divisions: Panda Camera, the camera store, which remained in the main business section of Grande Prairie; and "House of Portraits", the portrait studio. The studio was moved to a historic home built in 1928 by Joseph Crummy on the corner of 102 Street and 102 Avenue, the intersection which was once the town's Main Street and First Avenue. The name of the studio changed in 1983 to "Studio on the Park," to reflect the new image of the new urban Muskoseepi Park, the entrance to which is just across the street from the studio. It operated until 2002, when the historic home was torn down. The camera store, while undergoing many changes, always retained the name of Panda Camera. In April 1984, same day processing was introduced through the Rapid Lab, state-of-the-art equipment from Hope Industries with computerized colour control and enlargement capabilities to 8 x 10. In the early 1990s it was moved to the Co-op Store, and in 1996, was sold to Diane Laurin. The business still operates as Snapshot Studio & Photo just across the street from Panda Camera's original location on Richmond Avenue.

Custodial History

The textual records were deposited in South Peace Regional Archives by Paul Pivert in 2003. The photographic portion of the collection was officially transferred in 2010 although it had physically resided at the Archives since 2003. An accrual of photographs of the store was acquired in 2012. Further accruals were acquired in 2014, from Paul Pivert's estate, following his death.

Series 190.01

Photography series. -- 1975-1990. -- 24 cm of textual records. -- 1 photographs.

The primary function of Panda Camera was Photography—carrying out photographic assignments by planning and producing photographs for clients. This included commercial photography, for which there were sitting fees and photo shoots; and community photography, when the photographer attended community events, amateur theatre productions, grads and parades for the purpose of taking photographs to be sold in the community. Paul Pivert, the primary (and for the most part, the only) photographer at Panda Camera, was much more than a commercial photographer. Born and raised in the Grande Prairie area, he inherited his interest in photography from his father and uncles, who were excellent amateur photographers. He was also a collector of old and rare cameras. Community photography was an area Paul excelled in, and he participated in programs such as the Baby Welcome Programme for the Welcome Wagon. He was also deeply involved in the community, volunteering as

SubSeries
190.02.02

Personal Portraits sub-series. -- 1964-2001. -- 6,771 photographs.

The sub-series consists of 469 files of personal photographs (6771 images) including weddings, graduations, family and personal portraits, pets, and passports. The first 151 files consist of photographs and negatives from families and individuals who claimed their original files, but elected to donate images back to the Archives. After the community files were removed from the complete Panda Camera collection, the personal files remaining were sampled and every 33rd file was kept in its entirety (316 files). As far as possible, original order was maintained and the original file number recorded in the description. Files 190.02.02.0468-.0469 were part of a later accrual, which was arranged by the Archivist in chronological order, sampled for the 33rd file, and added to the end of the subseries, with the contents of the files being kept in their entirety.
